Year 4

Literacy at Home:

Poetry
These materials have been created by The Literacy Company to support home learning with literacy. We hope you enjoy using them and would appreciate your feedback. Please follow our Facebook page or Twitter to keep up to date with any new releases.

![Facebook icon] The Literacy Company

![Twitter icon] @TheLCUK

![Instagram icon] theliteracycompany

We have also created ‘The Lit Co Community’ page which can be accessed through the following link: https://www.theliteracycompany.co.uk/the-lit-co-community/

We would love to see some of the work you have produced, so start writing!
The Brook

I chatter, chatter, as I flow
To join the brimming river;
For men may come and men may go,
But I go on forever.

I wind about, and in and out,
With here a blossom sailing,
And here and there a lusty trout,
And here and there a grayling.

I steal by lawns and grassy plots,
I slide by hazel covers;
I move the sweet forget-me-nots
That grow for happy lovers.

I slip, I slide, I gloom, I glance,
Among my skimming swallows;
I make the netted sunbeams dance
Against my sandy shallows.

I murmur under moon and stars
In brambly wildernesses;
I linger by my shingly bars;
I loiter round my cresses.

And out again I curve and flow
To join the brimming river;
For men may come and men may go,
But I go on forever.

by Alfred Tennyson
Read the poem ‘The Brook’.

1. Highlight any words you don’t know. Use a dictionary, look them up online or discuss them with an adult. Write your own sentence for each of the new words you have learnt.

2. Illustrate the poem. Look at the noun phrases in the poem and try to include them in your illustration, e.g. a lusty trout, a grayling, sweet forget-me-nots, skimming swallows.

3. Answer the questions below:
   - What is the poem about?
   - Who is speaking in the poem?
   - List three animals that appear in the poem.
   - List three plants that appear in the poem.
   - What speed is the brook moving? What clues are there?

4. Practise your handwriting by copying out several lines of the poem as neatly as you can using a joined style. Try to choose a good pen and ensure you are sitting correctly at a table to do this. Warm up by practising with these words:

5. Think about the journey that a river, stream or brook might take that is different to the one in the poem – there might be one near you that you could think about. Make a list of all the plants, creatures and landscapes it might see on its journey. Draw a picture of the journey, this might help you to picture it.

Add some verbs to describe the how the river or stream you have chosen might move, sound or look like. Choose some words from the poem for inspiration to start you off:

- Move: weave, twist, meander, drift...
- Sound: trickle, babble, murmur...
- Look like: shimmer, sparkle, ripple
6. Find examples of the poet using adverbial phrases (telling you how, where or when) in ‘The Brook’. Develop some descriptive adverbial phrases for your stream or river journey. For example:

- twisting through the city (where)
- murmur softly into the trees (how and where)
- after dark I shimmer under the glow of the moon (when and where)

7. Write you own version of the poem in first person using your own river, stream or brook journey you have created. Keep the first and last verses the same. Just change the verb ‘chatter’ on the first line to your own verb and where your water might be flowing to.

For example:

I babble, babble, as I flow
To join the rolling sea;
For men may come and men may go,
But I go on forever.

I twist through the city
Interrupting paths and roads,
And here and there riverside fisherman,
And here and his paddling retriever...

8. Practise reading aloud your poem or the original. Decide which words need volume and emphasis. Perform to a family member and/or record to send into school so that your teacher can listen. You may wish to publish (handwrite, illustrate and decorate) your final poem. Don’t forget to edit and proof-read!
Further ideas to inspire learning are available on our website:

Two poetry units of work

The Lost Lost Property Office
List poems based on lost things by Roger McGough and Michael Rosen are used as models for comparison, writing and performance

Windrush Child
With links to the Caribbean and leaving home, Windrush Child by John Agard is the focus with an outcome of a free verse, narrative poem

Please refer to our website for further information:
http://www.theliteracycompany.co.uk/poetry-resources/

Our award-winning resource Pathways to Write currently has six units of work available for Year 4.

Click here: http://www.theliteracycompany.co.uk/product/pathways-to-write-year-4/www.theliteracycompany.co.uk  ©For use at home and in schools only. Not for commercial use.